Share speculation Saturday was leverish and unsettled, with the industrials again the leaders of the market. There was nothing new in the situation and the trading was almost entirely in the hands of professional operators who made all possible use of Friday's disturbances. At the opening of business the market was remarkaoly quiet, prices as a rule recording a general improvement. Wheeling & Lake Erie preferred and Tennessee Coal advanced each 1% per cent. It was not long before the attack on the industrials was renewed, Sugar breaking 21/4 per cent. Chicago Gas 3%, Tobacco 2% and Distilling 11/6. The general market suffered to a lesser extent. The college settlement and the university settlement seem to have come to stay. The experiment in Chicago known as the Hull House, has been a superb success, as have been those in Rivington street, in this city, and in Green Point, Brooklyn. The newest branch, and is to be started in the mountains of North Carolina, about three miles from Asheville. The country is extremely beautiful, healthful and fertile, although quite wild and savage. In the valleys are still virgin forests, and here and there are streams and lakes which are alive with

The founder of the settlement is Miss Susan G. Chester, a graduate of Vassar and a member of the College Settlement Asso-ciation. She and such friends as may accompany her will either build or hire one of the little log cabins which are used by the mountaineers of that district, and will settle down to do good. They will found a small library, form classes in which they will teach the children not alone the ordinary lessons of the schools, but also how to sew, knit, embroider, cook, make clothing, keep house, how to attend to their own bodies and how to behave In those mountain districts are hundreds and hundreds of families whose condition is of the lowest. They are illiterate, unambitious, poor and superstitious. Not knowing how to read they, of course, take no interest in books or publications, and in those cases where igrarance has been joined to sloth and dissipation they present a very pitiful picture to an American patriot, or to a Christian. This is the class that Miss Chester and her colleagues propose to ameliorate. They will give their time and money, and, if necessary, years of their life to raise these poor mountaineers to a higher plane. The enterprise is a noble one, but at the best it will be slow and tedious. General Grant's Childhood. from a rare and curious Japanese Life of General Grant. The following is from it: "From the time of his birth he was different from an ordinary baby. body was large. He weighed one kwan, 292 me. As he grew his thought became ceeper accordingly. It was seen by the eye of every man. He showed no color of fear, however great the sound that came into his ear. When he was not fully two years old his father, Jesshi Rumito Gurando, happened to carry him outside of his house, and some bad young men in the neighborhood, looking back at Gurando Kuen, said: We hear that this baby, as people say, has a brave heart, and never fears anything; we will try whether this is true or faise.' And they went away and got a pistol, and gave it to the hand of Gurando Kuen and pulled the trigger. Then came out a bullet like a thunderstorm. The baby was not afraid of it, and never
